Demands for European Youth Policy

The Bavarian Youth Council remains committed to its desire to make a difference in and for Europe and intends to increase its efforts to shape European policies for young people. Freedom, equality, democracy, the rule of law, respect for human dignity and the preservation of human rights are the core principles of the European Union. The European idea also stands for tolerance, regional diversity, solidarity and justice.

The foundation of the European Union (EU) has given us a period of unprecedented freedom and prosperity. Equality also implies achieving greater parity in living conditions for everyone across Europe. Our vision for the future of the EU must go beyond economic and monetary policy issues and address the concerns of its citizens.

Every effort should be made to encourage young people in particular to become involved in the process at an early stage. Any efforts we make to pursue deeper integration within the union must take place in dialogue with all citizens.

We firmly believe that the only way to safeguard the future prospects of our children and adolescents in all political areas is to pursue sustainable development policies and to continue to promote integration for a peaceful and democratic Europe.
